

dyson

Designed for Serenity:

A New Way to Breathe, Unwind, and Dream.

AuraStrip

Die 4 Dyson Group 2

Molly Broccolo, Elsa Li, Rosemary Trotter , Lucy Lee, Earl bumagat

Executive Summary

Problem

College students & young professionals struggle with poor-quality sleep caused by dry air, noise, and cluttered devices.

Opportunity

Dyson can enter the fast-growing sleep and wellness tech market, an untapped space that aligns with its design and engineering strengths.

Solution

Dyson AuraStrip: a wall-mounted humidifier with white noise, aromatherapy, and light control for an all-in-one sleep solution.

Ask

Seeking Dyson's approval and funding for prototype development and market testing in the wellness category.

Sleep and Wellness Market

---

- The global sleep and wellness tech market is valued around $20 billion
- Projected growth is near 14% CAGR
- Consumers are investing in smart, multi-functional and integrated smart home/wellness technologies.

Target Market

College Students

---

18-24 | Budget-conscious.
Seek affordable, space-saving solutions that improve comfort and rest.

Young Professionals

---

25-35 | Design orientated.
Seek premium, minimalist, smart devices that fit modern interiors and promote wellbeing.

|            |               |
|------------|---------------|
| NAME       | Alex          |
| AGE        | 20 years old  |
| OCCUPATION | Student       |
| LOCATION   | Rochester, NY |
| YEAR       | Senior        |

| USER DESCRIPTION                                                                                                                                                                          | GOALS                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Alex juggles school, work, and social life in a small dorm. With little sleep and a tight budget, he values simple, stylish products that make his space calmer and help him rest better. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Sleep better and wake up more refreshed for early class</li><li>• Create a peaceful, healthy space without clutter</li><li>• Use products that are easy to set up and stylish</li></ul> |

| FRUSTRATIONS                                                                                                                                                         | PERSONALITY                                                                                                                                                 | INTERESTS                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Dry dorm air and noise from roommates disrupts sleep</li><li>• Relies on multiple cheap devices that take up space</li></ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Busy</li><li>• Adaptable</li><li>• Social</li><li>• Aesthetic</li><li>• Independent</li><li>• Resourceful</li></ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Technology and Gadgets</li><li>• Interior Design</li><li>• Social Media</li><li>• Coffee Culture</li><li>• Music and Podcasts</li></ul> |

“I just want my space to feel calm, even when everything else is chaotic.”

MOTIVATIONS:

- Comfort
- Convenience
- Price

|            |                      |
|------------|----------------------|
| NAME       | Emma                 |
| AGE        | 28 years old         |
| OCCUPATION | Marketing Consultant |
| LOCATION   | Chicago, IL          |
| LEVEL      | Associate            |

| USER DESCRIPTION                                                                                                                                                               | GOALS                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Emma is ambitious and often works late. She values wellness and stylish simplicity, seeking products that help her relax and stay balanced amid city noise and screen fatigue. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Create a calm, clutter-free home that supports relaxation</li><li>• Prioritize better sleep to stay focused and energized for work</li><li>• Reduce screen fatigue and unwind more easily at night</li></ul> |

| FRUSTRATIONS                                                                                                                                                                            | PERSONALITY                                                                                                                       | INTERESTS                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• City noise and constant screen exposure make it difficult to relax and sleep well.</li><li>• Hard to find stylish, calming solutions.</li></ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Ambitious</li><li>• Disciplined</li><li>• Organized</li><li>• Detailed-oriented</li></ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Career Progression</li><li>• Interior Design</li><li>• Corporate Culture</li><li>• Meditation</li><li>• Mental Health</li></ul> |

“After a long day on screens, I just want to unplug and breathe.”

MOTIVATIONS:

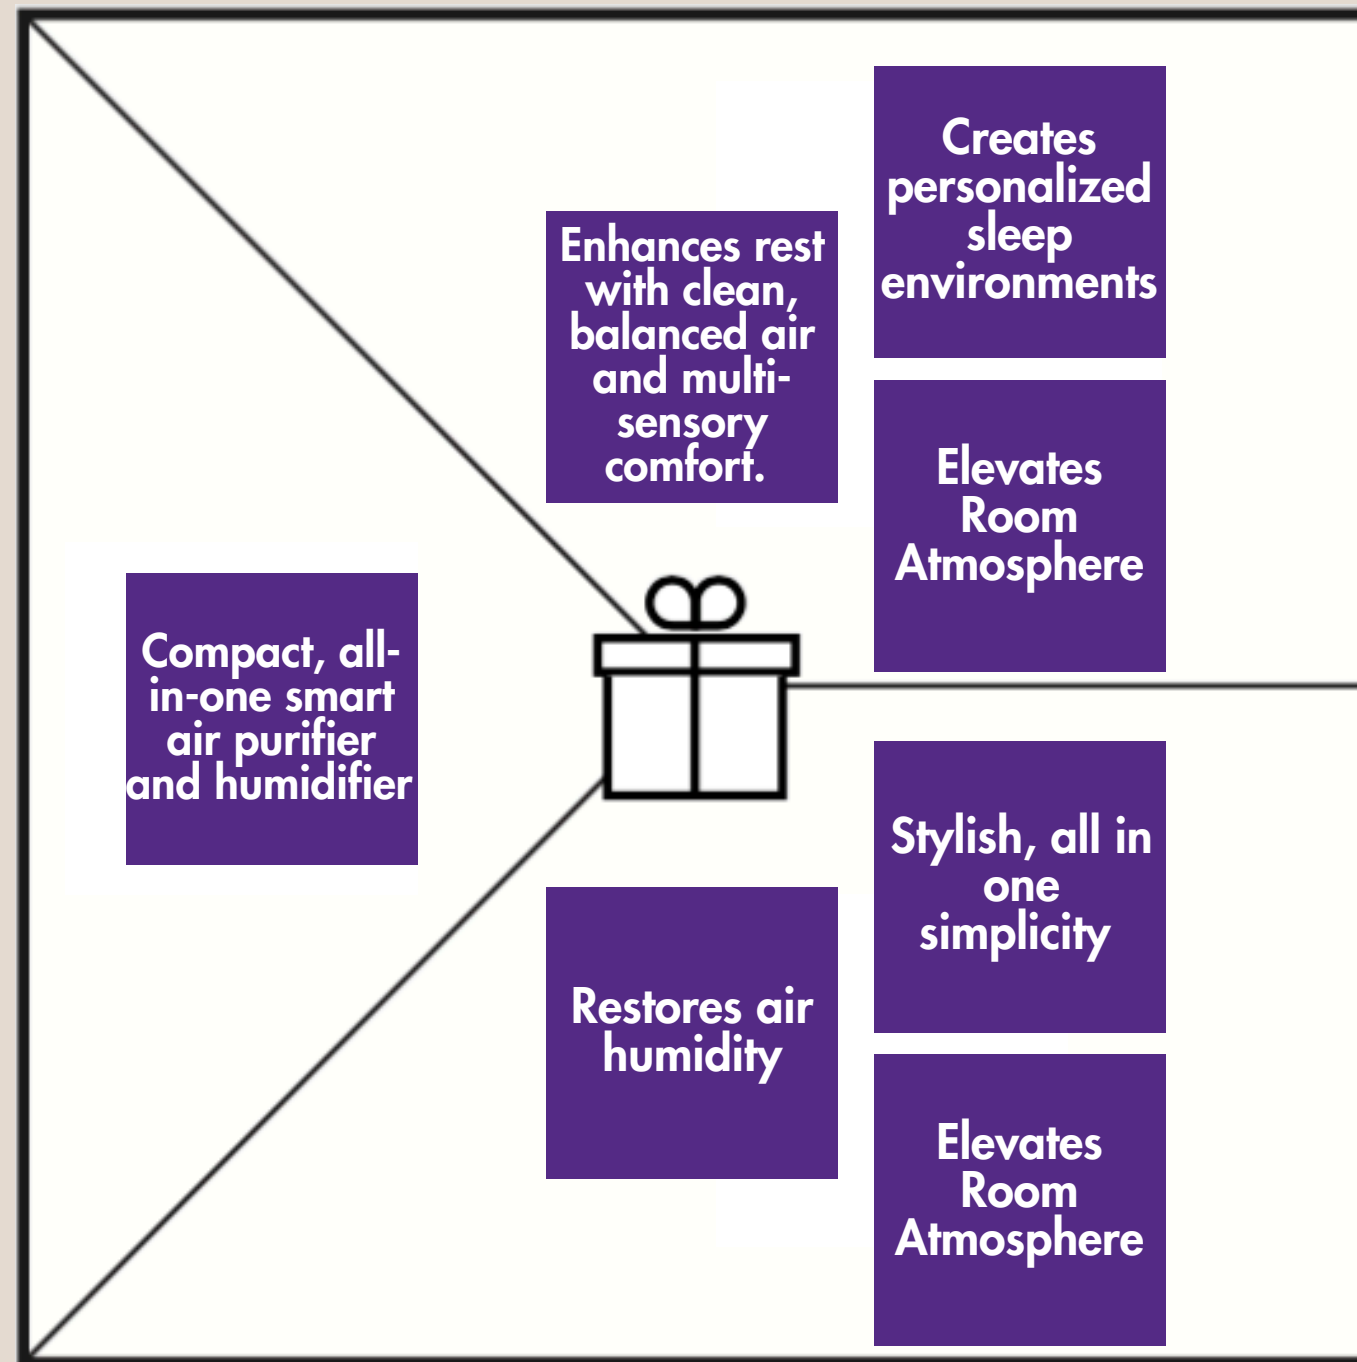

- Comfort
- Convenience
- Price

Value Proposition Canvas

Gain Creators

Gains :)

Product
&
Service

Pain Relievers

Pains :\
Jobs

Ensuring Fit

Gain Creators

Gains :)

Product
&
Service

Pain Relievers

Pains :\
Jobs

AuraStrip

ALL IN ONE

AIR HUMIDIFIER
DIFFUSER
WHITE NOISE
LIGHTING

For wellness-conscious consumers seeking better sleep and cleaner air, the Dyson AuraStrip is a sleek, wall-mounted smart humidifier that integrates aromatherapy, white noise, and lighting to create a calm, healthy environment, all in one space-saving design.

AuraStrip's New Offerings

- ✓ All-In-One Integration
Integrates humidifying + scent + noise + lighting,
no need to buy 3–4 separate devices
- ✓ Space Free Design
mounts above the bed, requiring no extra room
- ✓ Minimalist, Aesthetic Bedroom Object
Sleek, architectural light-strip that doubles as décor
- ✓ No-Tripping, Safety Advantage
No cords on the floor, no water leakage around electronics, kid & pet safe

Business Model Canvas

Hypothesis 1: App Integration

We believe that people will prefer to use MyDyson app control over a physical remote and/or buttons on the device

Test: Asked survey question for target customers to choose preferred controlled option for device

Survey Number = 48

Physical button

20.5%

Why Critical?

Helps determine the control method users value most so we invest in the right interface and avoid unnecessary features.

Insights: Look at potentially giving the option of both a remote and use of the app.

Hypothesis 2: Preferred Features (Rank)

We predict the air-purifier feature will meaningfully enhance sleep environment the most, providing cleaner air and a calmer atmosphere.

Test: Asked survey respondents to rank product features from most valuable to least valuable

Results: Rankings were skewed, but majority of participants ranked air purifier as the most important feature

Survey Number = 48

Why Critical?

Shows which features matter most, guiding us on what to prioritize or remove for a compact, high-value product.

Insights: Use responses to choose most important product features for our target users and potentially cut out least valued features.

Hypothesis 3: Simple vs. Complicated Functions/Features

We believe that products with visually minimalist designs will be perceived as higher quality than visually complex designs.

Test: Asked Survey respondents to rate two different products out of 5, one with a simple look, and one with a complex design

Survey Number = 76

Why Critical?

Clarifies whether design complexity impacts perceived quality, helping us avoid over-investing in unnecessary aesthetics.

Insight: There is no difference in quality perceptions based on simple/complex designs.

Critical Risks / Mitigations

Risk

Safety & liability concerns with over-bed installation

Mitigation

Allocate extended R&D cycles to prototype airflow channels, waterproofing, and mounting mechanisms

Risk

High price points limits adoption for students & small-space users

Mitigation

Offer financing options and student discounts through on-site & Show strong value messaging of replacing 3–4 devices and improving sleep quality

Critical Risks / Mitigations

Risk

Confusion From Too Many Features

Mitigation

Simplify onboarding with preset modes like “Deep Sleep,” “White Noise + Purify,” and “Bedtime Hydration.”

Risk

Scent Sensitivity & Allergy Concerns

Mitigation

Introduce hypoallergenic, low-intensity scent cartridges & Provide “scent-free” default mode

Success Factors

1

Organizational Support for a Multi-Function Sleep Product

2

Budget Allocation for High-Quality Prototyping & Testing

3

Sales & Retail Specialist Training

4

Operational Capability for New Consumable Category

5

Marketing & Launch Platform Commitment

6

Timing: Launch During Key Seasonal Windows

Enhance your sleep quality & environment with

dyson AuraStrip

Die 4 Dyson Group 2

Molly Broccolo - mbroccol@u.rochester.edu

Elsa Li - yli283@u.rochester.edu

Rosemary Trotter - rtrotte2@u.rochester.edu

Lucy Lee - slee291@u.rochester.edu

Earl bumagat - ebumagat@u.rochester.edu